

For The Children Of The World

With deep concern for the deteriorating condition of the world's environment, we propose

an Earth Treaty

between the people and governments of all nations and our Mother the Earth. We endorse the following solution-strategy to help counteract the current global ecological crisis and ensure the safety and welfare of present and future generations. We recognise the vital necessity for a change in our relationship with the Earth for the preservation of life, and we pledge to help:

- establish a world-wide ERA (Earth Repair Action) Decade to begin with FIERY, the (First International Earth Repair Year), starting on World Environment Day, June 5, 1990, to activate the spirit of global co-operation, and unite people, communities, religions and nations in the common, productive and peaceful purpose of repairing our Earth for a healthier and safer future. (See Draft Resolution to the United Nations)
- motivate the governments of every nation to fund and support the ERA Decade by reallocating annually at least 10% of all military budgets, personnel and resources, within each nation, and achieve World Peace by the Year 2000
- protect and respect remaining native forests, flora and all life forms and stop destruction for short term economic gain. For every mature tree felled, at least 100 trees need to be fully grown
- foster an attitude that transcends regional and national differences; appreciates and respects Mother Earth as our home, and perceives humanity as one family
- respect indigenous peoples' cultures and value their contribution as custodians for the preservation of the remaining wilderness
- research into eliminating the hazards of toxic waste and all life-damaging pollutants of air, soil and water, including a transition to energy systems using only renewable resources
- include into the public and private education systems within every nation, the subject of permanent, self-sustaining, organic agriculture and self-help development programs to grow an abundance of nutritious food, build community and individual health, and end world hunger
- build small and large-scale hygienic composting facilities and establish natural resource recovery programs, to ensure that all presently-wasted bio-degradable materials be recycled and processed into humus to replenish the soil and reforest the lands
- co-ordinate programs such as shade houses for tree propagation; the planting and maintenance of forest, fruit and nut trees; hygienic composting bins for soil production and organic food gardens within schools, colleges and community centres for youth, senior citizens, drug and alcohol rehabilitation and corrective services
- campaign for the names and objectives of all National Defence Forces to be changed to Peace Keeping Services, and that these personnel help plant and care for billions of trees to replace forests lost and to replenish the atmosphere

This solution-strategy was endorsed by the EARTHWALK Conference, 7-9 April, 1989, held at Kurrajong, NSW, Australia, where representatives of many indigenous peoples' cultures, environmentalists, scientists and concerned individuals gathered. People of all nations are urged to contribute to the implementation of these Earth Treaty proposals and any other global environmental reforms necessary to repair the Earth for our children and the generations to come.
