Dear Dr. Willits:

This is to advise you of what has happened to my proposed research program in social engineering, which you inquired about in your letter of December 23, 1945.

When I reached California in January, I found that I was too tired from five years of war research at the U. I. L. Radiation Laboratory to start on my program of graduate study. Since then I have been doing occasional part time work for the University of California Radiation Laboratory, and have been devoting the rest of my time to getting rested so that I may resume my plans next fall. When I return to my scheduled program, I plan to send you a description as I agreed to in our telephone conversation of January ninth.

Sincerely yours,

Frederick B. Wood
